HAUT-LAGRANGE

Rouge 2020 dans la presse

James Suckling - 92/100

Blackberry, flint, wet earth and blackcurrant. Some matchstick, too. It's medium-to full-bodied with chewy tannins. Polished and energetic. Tobacco at the finish.

53% merlot and 47% cabernet sauvignon. Drink after 2026.

Chris Kissack - 92/100

Fresh, cool, saline and bright on the palate, with a thread of dark cherry stone and soot, wrapped within a medium-bodied substance, with a quite svelte presence in the middle. A fine savoury grip in the finish, with perfumed rose petal edges to the fruit.

Markus del Monego - www.tastingbook.com - 91/100

Aromatic character with ripe blackberries and blackcurrant spurs, distinct minerality and slightly iodine character. On the palate ripe tannins, fine acidity, juicy fruit and mild spices, liquorice in the background with good length.

Antonio Galloni - Vinous - 90/100

The 2019 Haut-Lagrange is a very pretty red. Crushed rose petal, mint, star anise and berry fruit are all nicely lifted in this attractive Pessac-Léognan. In 2019 Haut-Lagrange is a wine of understatement and class. All the elements come together so nicely. Fine tannins and bright floral notes round out the finish.

Jeff Leve - The Wine Cellar Insider - 90/100

With a hint of mint to accompany the earthy red fruits, the wine is medium-bodied, soft, elegant and forward. Already fun to taste, this will be fine to enjoy on release and is perfect for ordering in restaurants.

Izak Litwar - Great Bordeaux Wines - 90/100

Attractive, well-balanced with creamy berries and nice acidity. Fruity aftertaste.

Bernard Bustschy - 90/100

La robe est sombre avec des reflets violets et le nez de violette est superbe avec une pointe boisée. Le vin est souple et dense avec des tannins très fins, l'ensemble est très élégant et avenant.
